

REMOVE CLUTTER IN YOUR CANDIDATE PIPELINE

Stop wasting time sifting through unqualified resumes and focus on convincing top talent to come work for your company.

A QUICKER ROUTE TO CANDIDATE QUALIFICATION

A recruiter's time is best spent quickly contacting qualified applicants and selling them on a position and on the company. However, the tiresome and lengthy application evaluation process eats up most of a recruiter's valuable time and energy. Save time and resources with Personified's resume and phone screening service and get quicker access to the right people.

A dedicated and experienced part- or full-time recruiter proactively becomes a seamless part of your recruiting team. Your recruiter works with you to decipher your must-have qualifications from your nice-to-have skills before taking on the tedious and time consuming task of sifting through your received applications. No matter whether they are stored on a job board, in email, in your applicant-tracking system, or on a pile on your desk, Personified will screen your initial set of applicants.

During our critical review process, your Personified recruiter filters out unqualified resumes and advances only those that meet your qualifications. Your recruiter can also phone screen all the qualified applicants or just the ones you deem to be the top prospects. Personified's resume and phone screen service saves you time, money, and resources; taking you one step closer to getting the talent you need in the competitive employment marketplace. Let us reduce candidate glut so you can focus on getting top candidates in the door, building relationships with them, and selling them on the benefits of working for your company.
